

Knife Defense for Empty Hand Practitioners

Masters Eric Bullock and Dan Amerson are excited to present a seminar on self-defense against knife assaults. Practitioners of Karate, Tang Soo Do, Taekwondo, and other empty hand arts can supplement their knowledge by drawing from the teachings and techniques of Modern Arnis and the Filipino martial arts which are an amazing complement to traditional empty hand arts from Japan and Korea.

The seminar will focus on proper defense against a blade attacks from all of the major angles. Students will learn proper blocking techniques for knife attacks, defensive takedowns, disarmament, and control of the attacker from start to finish.

About the Filipino Martial Arts

Many fighting traditions have emerged from the Philippines focusing mostly on techniques with cane, knife, and sword. These arts have been commonly referred to as Eskrima or Kali. Under Professor Remy Presas, many of these techniques were unified into Modern Arnis, the national martial art of the Philippines. Modern Arnis now flourishes worldwide with tens of thousands of practitioners.

Details

Location: Ladd Family Martial Arts at Stonehenge Market, 7340 Creedmoor Rd., Raleigh, NC

Time: Saturday, November 12 from 2:30 to 5PM. Registration will start at 2.

Experience Level: Intermediate to Advanced. (Students should have at least 6 months experience in their art.)

Cost: $40 (Please bring cash or check payable to Dan Amerson)

Contact Info: dan.amerson@yahoo.com (RSVP appreciated)

About Master Dan Amerson

Master Dan Amerson holds a 4th degree black belt in Taekwondo and a 1st dan in Tang Soo Do. He has been training for over 20 years and has taught at numerous schools in the area.

About Master Eric Bullock

Master Eric Bullock has been teaching and studying the martial arts for 30 years. He holds a 4th degree black belt in Taekwondo, a black belt in Modern Arnis, and is a certified instructor in Filipino Combat Systems (FCS-Kali).

